Iron in the Blood
PERU-IRON
SYRUP
MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.
The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protocarbonate of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, and is the most perfect and reliable remedy for the blood in the simplest form. It increases the quantity of Nature's Iron in the blood, and cures all anæmias, and all diseases arising from the want of iron in the blood, by Tonic up, Incorporating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, supplying damaged and wasted cells, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disordered to feed upon. This is the secret of the wonderful success of the Peruvian Syrup in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Bolls, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a toxic state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its curative effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up a new and healthy constitution. Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and to give it a trial. See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Lively How in a Boston Court—House—Protestant or Catholic?

There was great excitement in the Supreme Judicial Court at Boston on Tuesday. About nine years ago, Hannah Slatery was adopted by Mr. William Edwards, of Southbridge, with the full consent of her mother, a widow. The girl, now sixteen years old, has been well educated and cared for. As her mother is a Catholic, Mr. Edwards, a Protestant, always allowed the girl to attend Catholic church, never interfering with her religious belief. About a year ago Hannah, being educated by some questions and remarks made to her by her priest, withdrew from the church and became a Baptist. Her mother thereupon endeavored to get her back home again, but she refused to go. On Tuesday she was brought into court as a writ of habeas corpus, at the instance of the mother, whose cause was Major M. J. McCaffrey. After a brief hearing Judge Morton dismissed the case on the ground of informality, and also decided that the girl was not restrained of her liberty. The counsel for the petitioner then advised the mother to take forcible possession of Hannah, and she, with her friends, attempted to do so. The mother held the girl, the bystanders sympathizing with the girl, who cried that she did not want to go home again and be compelled to live a Catholic. She was frantic with grief, and wept her mother that she would rather die than be compelled to follow a religion which was repugnant to her. In the scuffle Major McCaffrey had her coat torn from her back. The mother held the girl and insisted on taking her away. The girl called out to the spectators to protect her, and some gentlemen of the law volunteered to see her safely from the courtroom, and to restrain anybody who should attempt to interfere. The police were called in, but they had a right to do so to prevent a breach of the peace. The crowd increased, and the sheriff came in with some constables, all of whom asserted that the young lady had a right to decide as to where she would go with her mother or Mr. Edwards. Finally, a row was agreed upon, and some constables went for a carriage, which should be conveyed to the rear entrance of the court-house, and convey Hannah whither she wished. The row was successful. While some persons engaged Mr. Slatery in conversation, Hannah was quietly told that all she had to do was to run down the stairs, leap into the carriage, and be off. She was not long in following this hint, and suddenly bounded like a doe from her mother's side, down the steps, and was away almost before her excited mother and friends knew what was the matter. The occurrence has occasioned a good deal of bad blood among the people, both Catholic and Protestant.

An Hour, without smoke or odor, and
does every variety of cooking in a very superior manner.Bakes bread, biscuits, apples, potatoes,

AIR-TIGHT PRESERVE

Lake Michigan is higher than has been known before, even by the "oldest inhabitant" of Chicago.

Twenty-eight different kinds of "bitter" sold in Montreal for "stomach medicine" are undergoing analysis by the Dominion Inspector from an export point of view.

One of the workmen in the Portsmouth Navy Yard is going from there to Italy, having dropped the dinner bucket and applied a quantity of Government pepper. An order being given to weigh the pepper in the yard it was found that the pepper was all wrong missing. This pepper was sent to the dinner bucket at the time of detection, though most of it may have been there at different times previous.

A London correspondent tells a new story of the Shah. The King of Persia was very much pleased with the paintings at the International Exhibition, and daily bought $1,000 worth. He admired one which had three ducks in it, but declined to pay the price, $100, because he had been told that a live duck cost but $10, and that a dead one cost $100 was too much to pay for three painted ones.

In London, Reg. there is good news for the house. Some other machinery has been sent by ship which he can stop, in a very short time, a vehicle going at full speed, and better still, he stores up the impetus, and renders it available for starting the vehicle again as soon as the drag is removed, something on the same principle as Captain Mowbray uses the recoil of the gun to restore it to proper position. The inventor describes the model of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

There is a clever fellow in Birmingham who will get the living and no mistake. For playing truant, maternal authority cut off his supper. Cautious of food loss, the authorities of his fraternity, in place of the door to say: "Mother, I am going to bed, and when I am home I want the doctor to cut me open and look at my stomach." The maternal heart was filled with grief, for the child, and the maternal vessel asked what he meant. "I wish to be known," he answered "that I did of starvation." This was enough. The small boy was triumphant, and retired to his little bed, and gazed to replicate.

The latest experiment in the manufacture of paper was that recently presented to the convention of French paper manufacturers. A few samples were exhibited of good paper that had been made of hops. The little sheaf of the stalk is used for this purpose. Being chemically treated this substance is found to be almost equal to rag in the length and suppleness of its texture, and to be infinitely superior to straw, grass, wood and the other vegetable substances that have been tried from time to time. The discovery will probably inspire many people, as the dune portraiture say, with conflicting emotions. It is gratifying to find that promises a better and cheaper article of paper, but what may its effect be upon the price of a certain other commodity that is manufactured from hops?

COAL OIL COOKING STOVE.

Burns Coal Oil at an expense of One Cent in the Stove, without smoke or smell, and

does every variety of Cooking in a very

superior manner.

Bakes bread, meat, apples, potatoes,

cakes, pies, &c. Roasts meat, fowls and birds to perfection. They are not subject to being up as in the ordinary method by the carelessness of the cook.

Boils and steams vegetables, puddings, and all kinds of meat. Boils or steams cucumbers, tomatoes, &c. Boils fat iron, glass and salted and disincrusts iron, &c. and is admirably adapted for drying plasterboard.

It is simple and neat—consumes but a small space upon a kitchen table. It is always ready for use, requiring only a match for kindling—

and can be extinguished at pleasure.

The best coal is required to run a stove, and is not subject to those variations to which all other fires are liable. This will be appreciated

by the landowner, or the lady who does her own preserving. There is no smoke unpleasant odor, dust or noise.

Families of any size may do their entire cooking with this stove. To students, clerks, and all who desire to study economy, it is invaluable. The saving in fuel alone defrays

the whole cost.

The sick room, the nursery, the counting house, the workshop, will soon discover the advantages of a Stove Cooker. Stoves are in unequalled, as it does not heat the house.

The stove will be manufactured to meet

the wants of each.

Notes by the Way.
What is there more refreshing than
good night's rest—than half a dozen hours
of "tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy

lants, restoratives, pick-ups, mountain
see bathing, and all that sort of thing there's no restorative, no stimulant, no pick-up equal to a night's calm and tranquil sleep. There is no medicine like it. It refreshes, invigorates and renews. The man who can sleep well is a well man. His physical organism is in perfect order. The wheels of his wonderful machine work smoothly and regularly. His mind is clear and bright. He can enjoy a good square meal, and is prepared for a square away his work. Blessed is the man who can sleep. After two night's broil rest, travelling on railways, and a day of the toughest, roughest experience that I tell to our lot; we were all in good time for a pleasant sojourn in the land of Nod. Long before the regular hour for retiring we were tired and sleepy, and wanted to put off our "little nap." We thought we could sleep any place, and, in fact, were perfectly willing to "bunk" the floor, on the table, on the mantle piece, or on that matter, if no better spot could be found. But when we were about to go to lay our weary heads. But when the old lord came and whispered to that altho' he was full—he was about the fullest man I had seen for many a day—and had to go

The little droid was kindly taken care of by a friend of the spare man got him "dig," the he had weights were favored with a lamp, after the Government had made certain suggestions, we had each other good news and sought our respective couches, to the drowsy goddess. situations was not a healthy one, at least as I saw it. I said my companion, for I was yet unturned by the misadventures. In fact I was a certain extent self-proof against the attacks, at least so long as they had a rich material to feed on as my companion afforded. So I dozed away, but it was for long. My friend had left the bed, stretched himself on the floor, having cleared his pillow, and was vainly endeavoring to obtain a new moment's cessation from his hostilities. When suddenly, I felt a sharp sensation in my throat, and a strong flavor in my mouth, which caused me to start up, upright in the bed. I must have been lying on my back, with mouth wide open. Which was too much for the fellow in the ceiling. The bait was tempting. He saw sun ahead. He was hungry, and fed, fi, fo, fum, he smelt blood of an Englishman, and was bound to have some. He didn't wait long to contemplate the situation. The light was turning brightly, and he had a glimpse of his victim. So quietly and calmly he got his hold on the man, that he forgot to let the blood-alight in his mouth. He let it get into his throat, and tried to get it into his stomach. But he found him fast on the palate. He struggled hard to reach good things below, but he found him fast. He had his revenge. It was but the world's moment, when following the advice which a reverend divine, who once flourished

Bellevue, gave to the present mayor 10 years ago, I sent a policeman down after him. The policeman did his work nobly and bravely. I had my revenge. My companion and I then compared notes. I said I had been asleep two hours, during which he had changed his position a dozen times, vainly endeavoring to procure moment's rest. He had sat in his chair but the "peaky varmint" crawled up his valuable. The saving in fuel soon defrays

the whole cost.The sick room, the nursery, the counting house, the workshop, will soon discover its benefits. As a summer stove, it is unequalled, as it does not heat the house.
The stove will be manufactured to meet
the wants of each.WM. E. BOTTOMS,

THE DOMINION

COAL OIL COOKING STOVE.

Burns Coal Oil at an expense of One Cent in the Hour, without smoke or smell, and does every variety of Cooking in a very superior manner.

BAKERS

bread, biscuits, apples, potatoes, cakes, pies, etc. Roasts meat, fowls and birds to perfection. They are not subject to be dried up in the ordinary method by the evaporation of the coals.

Boils and steams vegetables, puddings, and all kinds of meat. Boils or fries steaks, chops, roasts, etc. Has a hot plate, also a small saloon and dissimilator, which is admirably adapted for drying potatoes, etc.

It is simple and easy to manage, but a small space upon a kitchen table, is always ready to use, requiring only a match to be kindled, and can be extinguished at pleasure.

The best can be regulated to a stove, and not subject to those variations to which all other stoves are liable. This will be appreciated by the landlady or the lady who has her own provisions. There is no smoke, no unpleasant odor, no noise.

Families of any size can do their entire cooking with this stove. To students, clerks, and all who desire to study economy, it is invaluable. The saving in fuel and space is the whole cost.

The rich room, the nursery, the counting house, the workshop, will soon discover its usefulness. As a Summer Cook Stove it is unequalled, as it does not heat the room.

The stove will be manufactured to meet the wants of all.
